ON THE CURBSTONE.

I HAPPEN to know that a number of Democratic candidates went up to Tempe during the week. They went to electioneer, they said, but some of my friends say they wooed the public enemy rather than the voter. They were enjoying themselves in a peculiarly Democratic way, when Chalmers concluded he would visit an estimable lady in the city, who is somewhat of a free thinker. The conversation turning upon theology, Chalmers remarked that he had always been taught to believe in a great spirit and to worship it. "Yes," came the prompt retort, "I am confident of that, for I can smell it in your breath!"

REALLY, the early train to the south is a factor of good to Phoenix. The town is easy to enter, but bad to leave. As one drummer expressed it, "I'd have been gone three days ago if I didn't have to get up so precious early in order to catch the train."

FARMERS seem undecided whether to put in barley or wheat this fall. The present season has been a very prosperous one for barley, while wheat, unless of superior quality, was nearly unsalable. Now, the season before, barley sunk to nearly nothing, while wheat commanded a good price. It's a sort of gamble, agriculture is, just as much so as staking your money on the red or black at a gaming table.

WHILE I am on the streets I see many amusing things. That is, things that are amusing to me, though they are repulsive to the humor, viewed through some other folk's spectacles. For instance, I hear men who have always borne the designation of moseback Democrats, vehemently protesting that they will not have their politics served out to them by the Webb-Fickas ring. Not that they have, in the least faltered in their Democracy, but that they are not to be dragged by the nose by any small faction that has obtained, by shady means, control of their County Convention.

TOM SMITH is usually termed, now-a-days, "the Speaker of the House."

THERE are two young men in this city who are twins. They much resemble each other, not an uncommon feature with twins. They went to school here in the early days to a gentleman who was a severe disciplinarian and who insisted upon accuracy in recitations. Now it usually happened that one of the twins would have excellent recitations while the other would utterly fail. So the delinquent one would be booked to stay after school to study his lessons. It was amazing how quickly the task was performed for, ere ten minutes had passed, a hand would go up, a recitation be craved and familiarity with the subject amply demonstrated to the teacher. The failure in recitations was made sometimes by one and sometimes by the other. It was not until near the end of the term that the mystery was explained. Only one of the twins learned the lessons each day and he was the one who managed to be kept in.

I MET a Democrat in front of the post-office the other day and in the course of a conversation he remarked, in a manner that showed he was in dead earnest: "The ring no more represents the Democratic party than the devil represents heaven. I shall not vote for one of their candidates, and there will be about 200 Democrats in this county who will act with me."

I HAVE heard from a number of sources that Sam Webb has already spent over $1000 on his canvass and expects to spend $3000, if necessary. Now, there is something wrong when the expenditure of such a sum is necessary to obtain an office which is supposed to pay a gross income of but $5000 a year, out of which comes salaries for deputies and contingent expenses amounting to fully $3000. There must be something rotten when a man like Webb, who is not wealthy, can command a sum like that for such a purpose. And, again, where does the money go? No legitimate expenses of hands, transparencies, printing, or even liquor, could eat it up. Crookedness is the only thing that could eat it up and I hear many cries in the air concerning Mr. Webb's candidacy even this early in the fray.

VERY often an apparent victory is a positive defeat. To be more explicit, the ring bosses, when they captured the Democratic County Convention, thought they had gained a fight, but they were mistaken—they had but insured the defeat and degradation of the men advanced by them as candidates.

THE train is now loaded each day with townspeople returning from their summer vacations. Singularly enough, most of them are somewhat worse off as to health, do not represent themselves as having had any better time than if they had stayed at home, and are, without exception, glad to return. Those who went East are unanimous in saying that for several months the heat there was much more oppressive than had been ever experienced in Phoenix. Cool.

A Bold Robbery.

Two McCormick mowers were found yesterday morning on the ranch of Mr. Hammond, three miles northeast of the city, to be in a badly demoralized condition. Only the axles and main gearing remained, all the wheels and lighter castings being gone. Investigation developed two sets of boyish footprints in the dust and the tracks of two small hand wagons. Ed Wells, one of the employees, followed the tracks and caught them running as much as possible on the grass by the wayside, traced them into town and summoning Deputy Sheriff Garcia, captured the thieves—two Mexican boys, aged 14 and 12 years, respectively. They had broken up the wheels, cog wheels and castings by means of a stolen sledge hammer, and had loaded them to the extent of 300 pounds on their wagons, and were on their way to sell them at the foundry, a distance of nearly five miles. They succeeded in ruining both machines, entailing a loss upon the owners, Scarborough & Hammond, of fully $100, and it is supposed for the sole purpose of obtaining money with which to go to the circus. The boys were taken to jail and will have their trials before Justice Sherman on Monday.

A Valuable Guide For Tuning.

E. W. Chase, who has lately moved to Phoenix and who is an experienced teacher of music and piano tuner, exhibits a stringed musical instrument, invented by him, intended to be used as a guide in tuning pianos or other instruments. It is simpler than a guitar, and renders tuning even the most ordinary ear both easy and precise. The instrument is so arranged as to give the chromatic scale mathematically perfect, thereby ensuring unison and harmony in the piano tuned. Mr. Chase claims that it marks an advancement in a branch of music that has been at a standstill for over a hundred years, and that it shows the ideas of many scientists to be erroneous; that it is the solution of a problem which the greatest mathematicians of the day have been unable to solve.
